

Developing Food Products: Laws and Regulations and Options

Date: Thursday, February 14, 2013

Time: 12:00 Eastern/11:00 Central/10:00 Mountain/9:00 Pacific

Some farmers have or are considering developing value-added food products. Food laws and regulations can be difficult to navigate. Many states in the West have enacted laws that allow some processing of food products in home.

Presenter: Karin Allen (Utah State University)

Presentation Topics:

- Options for food processing including in-home processing
- Food safety issues and labeling laws for small businesses
- Additional resources available
